

The Adventures of Shaving Cream!

Showing the students the proper procedures and what they will be doing, before handing them the shaving cream! I also gave the class written directions on the board for visual learners.

Walking around.

At the end, I gave them an opportunity to experiment with what they had learned. This is an example of a student's short composition using all the notes we talked about.

First graders, drawing whole notes.

Working on treble clefs. Not too bad for a first attempt!

The whole class learning and having fun with shaving cream!
